WORLDWIRED

REMIX COLLECTIONS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE • November 1, 2026

AMIN LABORIEL GOES GLOBAL WITH "WORLDWIRED (REMIX COLLECTIONS)"

NEW YORK, NY — Honduran-born, New York-based singer-songwriter Amin Laboriel expands his musical vision worldwide with WorldWired (Remix Collections), an ambitious international project that transforms songs from his catalog through new genres, rhythms, cultures and languages. Released through his independent label Rise To The Top Productions Corp.

At the center of the project is his signature song “Chocolate Banana Pop It,” reimagined for audiences around the world — with editions in Vietnamese, Haitian Creole, Tagalog, Chinese, Portuguese, Arabic, French, Korean and Russian, alongside Afro-Fusion, Reggaetón/Latin Trap and Funk interpretations.

The collection moves freely across Latin Pop, R&B, Soul, Reggaetón, Afrobeats, Salsa, Bachata, Merengue, Mariachi, Hip-Hop, Dance and international pop, giving familiar songs entirely new musical identities. Tracks including “Jueguito De Amor,” “Cuanto Tiempo Más,” “Little Game of Love” and “Ella Quiere Choco Banano” are reconstructed through dramatically different musical traditions.

“Music doesn’t need a passport. It only needs a heart willing to listen.” — Amin Laboriel

“WorldWired is more than a remix collection — it’s my way of connecting cultures through one universal language: music.” — Amin Laboriel

ABOUT AMIN

Honduran-born and New York-based, Amin Laboriel is a singer, songwriter, and producer whose music moves freely across Latin Pop, R&B, Soul, Reggaetón, Afrobeats, Salsa, Bachata, Merengue, Mariachi, Hip-Hop, and Dance. As founder of his independent label Rise To The Top Productions Corp, he writes, records, and releases on his own terms — building a catalog defined by rhythm, romance, and cultural fusion.

His signature song “Chocolate Banana Pop It” became the seed of WorldWired (Remix Collections), a global project reimagining his music in nine languages — proof of his belief that music needs no passport, only a heart willing to listen.

THE RECORD

Amin Laboriel's signature song "Chocolate Banana Pop It" is pure Afrobeats fire — infectious hook, dancefloor-ready groove, and a global story no other record in your rotation has: the song has been reimagined in NINE languages (Vietnamese, Haitian Creole, Tagalog, Chinese, Portuguese, Arabic, French, Korean, Russian), alongside Afro-Fusion, Reggaetón/Latin Trap and Funk versions. One spin opens the door to a whole world of content for your listeners.

WHY SPIN IT

- Global angle: 9-language versions = 9 ways to engage diaspora audiences
- Afrobeats is the world's fastest-growing sound — this record rides the wave
- Bilingual (EN/ES) artist, NYC-based, Honduran-born — real crossover story
- Independent release — your station breaks it first
